When the democratic members realized what had been done Messrs, Randall and Brooks, of N. Y., remonstrates and profession against it and a motion to reconsider was made, when there was a brief discussion.

Mr. RANDALL, (dem.) of Pa., admitted that Mr. Simpson could not take the oath, he having been an officer in the Confederate army, but condemned the Reconstruction Committee for not removing his dissabilities, for which he had petitioned and which he deserved, because he had honestly and firmly aided in reconstruction measures.

Mr. Dawis, (rep.) of Mass., repudiated the principle embodied fa the report, that the ineligibility of the person who recoired the greatest number of voice gave the seat to the person having the next highest number.

Mr. Cassa a reminded the House that he had already stated that that part of the report represented only his own views; also that on two or three occasions he had distinctly stated that the case would not occupy over ten minutes. All that he wanted was that the House should consume no more time in the matter.

A large number of reports from the Committee on Revolutionary Pensions and the War of 1812 were made and disposed of. In the discussion of one of them Mr. WILLAED, (rep.) of Vi., Chairman of the Committee, asked and obtained leave to report to-morrow a public bill in reference to pensions to the survivors of the war of 1812.

ENPSECREENT OF THE FIFTEENTH AMENDMENT.

The House at a quarter past one P. M. resumed the consideration of the conference report on the bill to enforce the right of citizens of the United States to vote in the several States of the United.

Mr. BINGHAM, (rep.) of Ohio, chairman of the committee of conference, reviewed the provisions of the original bill and of the Senate amendment as compared with the report of the conference committee, explaining in what the difference consisted. He would not entertain the idea that any thought in man could doubt for a moment either the constitutionality or the general necessity of the measure. It was expressly conduct to the election of fedral officers.

He want on to denounce the encouragement held on in the bill to spice and informers, and quoted Curran's description and denunciation of that class.

Mr. Davia, (rep.) of N. Y., asserted that there was no provision in the bill for informers.

Mr. Charlesteved Mr. Davis to the second, third and fourth.

Mr. DAVIS, (rep.) of N. Y., asserted that there was no pre-vision in the bill for informer.

Mr. Cox-referred Mr. ment to the second, third and feurith.

Mr. Cox-referred Mr. ment to all who prosecute. Mr. Bissolian closed the debate by replying to the argument made against the bill. He denied that it gave any encouragement to informers, and declared that in no ulterance of Curran was he weak enough or footish enough to suppose that his burning and immortal words in denunciation of informers could apply to the case of a citizen who appoaled to the tribunal of justice for the violucation of a right or the redress of a wrong. He saked when and where Liberty found a shelter or a refuge anywhere on this planet save under the shelter and care of law enforced by the courts.

The vote was then taken, fand the report of the conference committee was agreed to. Yeas, 123, nays, 26—a strictly party vote.

Mr. Schenker moved that when the House adjourn to-morrow it be till Tuesday, Monday being the day for decorating the soldiers graves. Agreed to.

Analysishon to THE PLOGE OF THE HOUSE.

The Spraker directed the cierk to read the rule governing admissions to the floor, and after it was read be gave notice that he would hold hereafter that he had no more right to wave that rule than any other member had, and that he would decline to do so. It was for the doorseeper to execute that rule, and the Chair would not be responsible for anybody on the floor except those who were privileged.

Several members—That is right.

The House then proceeded with the consideration of the bill to reduce internal taxes. After some preliminary remarks by Mr. Schenck in apology for its length (cighty-six printed pages), which, he said, was inevitable, as it empraced all legislation on the subject, revised and presented in a modified connection and condansed form, the Clerk proceeded to read the first section, but as it covered thirty pages of the bill the reading had only just concluded when the hour of five o'clock arrived, and the House thereupon adjourned.

The United States vs. Maurice Crosby and Samuel Browns.—The defendants pleaded guilty to an indictment charging them with passing counterfeit money on the 20th April last. Sentence deferred.

UNITED STATES COMMISSIONERS' COURT. Charge of Mutlny Dismissed.

The United States vs. J. Doninson.-The defendant, who a few days since was tried on a charge of having attempted to commit a mutiny on board the snip Ida May, on the night of the 16th of this month, was discharged by Commissioner Shields, there being no case against him. Drison, the master of the snip, who was plainting in the case, was proved to be the aggressor throughout.

SUPERIOR COURT-CHAMBERS.

A Habeas Corpus Case. Before Judge Cardozo.

In re James .- On the 25th of last April the relator was committed at Special Sessions to Hart's Island on a charge of petit larceny. He now sues on a wrt on a coarge of peut infeculty. He now sues on a wit of habeas corpus for his discharge, claiming that his commitment was informal. His counsel assouraged that the court had no authority to send him to Harristsiand, but that it could send him either to the Peutitentiary for six months, or to the House of Refuge until he had attained his majority. The Court ordered testimony to be taken, and postponed further hearing until the 31st inst.

SUPERIOR COURT-TRIAL TERM-PAST L Heavy Damages Against an Insurance Company. Before Judge Jones.

Herman Funcke vs. The Mercantile Mutual In surance Company and Herman Sturm.-In this case, the particulars of which have already been case, the particulars of which have already been published in the Herald, the jury rendered a verdict for plantiff in the sum of $16,337 43, with an allowance of $750. The action was for $15,000 and interest on a policy of insurance on some military stores shipped to Moxico on the saip Jamos Keyes, which foundered in the Gulf of Mexico. The desence alleged that the valuation on the goods was fraudulent, and that the plaintiffs sunk the ship in order to obtain she insurance money.

SUPERIOR COURT-SPECIAL TERM. A Cuban as is a Cuban.

Before Judge McCuun. Enrique Loynez es. Manuel Quesada.—About the beginning of the war for Cuban independence the plaintiff, Enrique Loynez, a patriot desiring the freedom of the "Ever Faithful Isle," gave General Manuel Quesada $1,500 towards the revolutionary, fund. Both parties were in Nassau at the time. After the lapse of time, however, Loynez regretted his liberality, and with a view to the recovery of his moncy Instituted a suit therefor against Quesada. The General put in a denial, but his real defence is that he received the $1,500 as agent of the republic of Cuba, and that no suit against him personally can be instituted. This suit is now pending. A motion was yesterday made before Judge McCunn to compel defendant, as a non-resident, to give security for costs. The Court granted the motion. reedom of the "Ever Faithful Isle," gave General

The Curmon Divorce Case-Increase of Ali-mony.

Rebecca B. Carmon vs. Charles E. Carmon.—The plaintid had obtained a divorce on the ground of adultery, and was in receipt of $6,500 a year alimony for the support of herself and her two children. She applied last week for an increase to $12,000, and a re-eres was appointed to take testimony to ascertain if such increase was necessary. He reported in favor of granting it, but the Court thought $10,000 sufficient, and so ordered.

LOURT OF GENERAL SESSIONS.

Alleged Murder-The Case of Michael Martin.

Before Recorder Hackett. At the opening of the Court yesterday a large num ber of prisoners whom the Grand Jury indicted charged with burglary and larceny were arraigned. Michael Martin, who was indicted for murder in the first degree in causing the death of Patrick Weish by stabbing him, was placed at the bar. He pleaded not guifty, and said he was destitute of means to employ counsel. The Recorder assigned Mr. William F. Howe, who was in court at the time, to defend Martin. Mr. Howe cheerfully accepted the important duty imposed upon him by the Court, and the prisoner was remanded in order to afford the counsel an opportunity to confer with him and prepare for trial.

FATAL BAILBOAD CASUALTY.

An elderly lady, named Halley, while walking on the Budson River Railroad track at Tarrytown yesterday morning, was struck by the locomotive of a down train, by which she sustained injuries of a shocking and necessarily fatal nature. It is claimed that the custneer, on rounding a curve, saw the unfortunate woman, who, for some unexplained reason, took no notice of the alarm whistie, and ere the brakes could be successfully applied, she was buried into the sir, alighting some distance from the track. She was conveyed to her home in a dying condition.

The markets to-day were irregular and unsettled until toward the close, when they became strong and closed firm. In the earlier part of the day was exceedingly buoyant, and the dealings at the morning board were on a large scale. The lavorable character of the report of the Pacific Mail Company induced a demand for the stock, under which the induced a demand for the stock, under which the price ran up to 42. The items were generally canvassed and the exhibit regarded as highly favorable. It will be remembered that the HERALD gave, about six weeks since, the substance of the report as now presented, and when the stock was quoted 31 to 32. This advance, as well as a rise in gold to 115½, occasioned general activity at the Stock Exchange, and in the case of some of the railway shares a sharp advance in prices, Rock Island touching 120, Onio and Mississippi 40, Reading 103. Subsequently with the decline in gold and on sales to realize the market broke down one to three per cent, the latter extreme being reached in aree per cent, the latter extreme being reached in the case of the Hannibai and St. Joseph shares, which fell to 115%. The New York Central stock and scrip were conspicuous in this movement, their decline being assisted by the rumor that Commissioner cline being assisted by the rumor that Commissioner.

The foreign exchange market was strong early in the foreign at 109% for prime bankers' sixty day the forenoon at 109% for prime bankers skey day sterling and 110% for sight bills. The advance in gold and the improvement in five-twenties at Lon-don led to the drawing of some bond bills, the sale of which led to the sale out of second hands of prime bills at 109%, and even it is said as low as 109%. Al so offered were promptly absorbed, and the market closed firm at the opening rates. Indeed, the lead-ing bankers did not draw at all below the figures first above quoted, the only transactions under their quotations occurring as just stated. THE GOLD MARKET EXCITED.

The advance in exchange, as well as the engage-ment of nearly a million dollars for export by the steamer to-morrow, led to an active movement in the Gold Room, and the price ran up to 115%, although the circumstances of the gain of $400,000 in the specie reserve of the Bank of England and the improvement in the foreign quotations for our national securities were adverse to such a course of the market. Indeed, the latter cause was operative eventually and occasioned a decline to 114%, but the closing strength of exchange and the confirmation of the report that a million dollars was on board or en route for the steamers that sail to-morrow overcame this influence, and the price reacted to 114% a lish yacht Cambria challenged the ewners of yachts belonging to the New York Yacht Club to a race for belonging to the New York Yacht chart of a rose for the possession of the Queen's cup, won by the yacht America in 1851. The terms of acceptance made by the New York Club were that all yachts belonging to the aquadron should be entitled to gtart in the race, as was the case when the America won the race in 1851. The New York Yacht Club have modified the conditions so that schoolers only shall be allowed to enter against the Cambria. The owner of the Cambria has accepted the conditions and will sail under the rules and regulations of the New York Club.

The America's Cup-Correspondence in Relation to the Contest for Possession-The Race . to be Under the Rules of the New York Yacht Club.

The following is the correspondence which has passed on the subject between the secretary of the New York Yacht Club and the owner of the Cam-

New York Yacht Club and the owner of the Cambria:

Man's Inhumanity to Woman-A Tale of Villany, Seduction and Abortion-The Accom-plished and Beautiful Victim Lett at a House of Infamy-Criminal and Civil Proceedings Taken in the Case,

A case of seduction, accompanied by circumstances of more than usual cruelty and brutality, is now before the courts of the city. The facts already sworn to will be found in the following narrative:—Miss Adah F. Meyers, who is residing at present at 347 Fourth avenue, is a young lady of more than ordinary attractiveness, both of person and mind, and came to this city from Staten Island to reside in the month of May, 1869. She took apartments, with her widowed mother, at 400% Sixth avenue. There they made the acquaintance of Mr. Robert Schroeder, a hop merchant, who is residing at 114 East Twenty-seventh street, and whese place of business is 26 Beaver street. Mr. Schroeder is a gentleman of the blonde style of attractiveness, and, in addition, is wealthy, keeping his carriage and liveried servants. He speedly won the affections of Miss Adah, and six weeks after their acquaintance he took her to Niblo's, where she saw

At the conclusion of the performance she was At the conclusion of the performance she was driven to Cellari's wine house, corner of Eleventh street and University place, where they partock of champagne. Miss Meyers says that she has a recollection of drinking one glass and being driven in a carriage to her house in Sixth avenue. She sleps until eleven o'clock the next morning, and when she awoke she found that she had been robbed of that which all pure and virtuous women value more than life. She imparted this intelligence to her mother, who immediately went to Mr. Schroeder's onice, and found that he had left that morning for Mayence, in Germany, where his father has one of the largest hop establishments in the world.

In the following October Mr. Schroeder returned, and Miss Meyers met him in Broadway. She then demanded of him that he should marry her. He asked her to meet him at his house the next day. She did so, and they drove to

At this house a marriage ceremony was gone through in the German language, by a man purporting to be a minister of religion. They then went to the Irving House, corner of Twelth street and Broadway, and she was there introduced and registered on the books as Mrs. Schroeder. They remained there about two weeks, and, at his suggestion, left and went to the St. Denis Hotel, where they staid a few weeks. He then took private apartments for her at the house of Mrs. Schoenfelder, corner of Broadway and Fourth street, and finally went to the Ashlam House, at Twenty-fourth street, Fourth avenue, staying there until the latter part of April. During all this time Schroeder, by many acts of attention and kindness, manifested great love for her, introducing her to society and taking her to balls, and proposed to her a trip to Germany. She told him that she was likely to become a mother, and he proposed that she should pay a visit to Dr. Evans, in Chatham street. They both paid a visit to the ductor, and, after one or two consultations, an operation was performed upon her. After this Mr. Schroeder's attentions were

Not quitte so Ardent.

He proposed to take a house for her, but as she continued sick, in a conversation he had with her be communicated to her the startling intelligence that she was not marriage and that the "best thing she could do was to commit suicide." She became very disconsolate and unhappy, and at length he took her into Eighth street and showed her a house, and asked her if she would have any objections to live there. She assented and went, but to her dismay found it to be a house of bad reputation, known as JOE wood's House.

She stayed there to weeks, declining all overtures made to her to enter upon a life of prostitution. She made her case known to Mr. W. F. Howe, who applied to a justice of the Supreme Court on her benalf, who directed a warrant to be issued in a civil suit for damages, and Mr. Schroeder was yesterday lodge in Ludlow street juil in default of $10,000 bail.
